

NEW COLLECTION OF GLOBAL CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CODES LAUNCHED

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Portland, Maine; January 26, 2009 – The Corporate Library, now in its tenth year as a fully independent corporate governance research and advisory firm, has launched its Global Corporate Governance Standards Directory. This free resource is one of the most extensive collections of global corporate governance guidelines available, providing direct links to the current and historical governance codes of more than 70 nations and international organizations. The directory can be found at The Corporate Library’s website, www.thecorporatelibrary.com.

“Given the role of poor corporate governance in the worldwide financial crisis, the ability to understand the governance guidelines of each country is essential,” said The Corporate Library’s CEO Richard A. Bennett. “The Global Corporate Governance Standards Directory is a centralized resource that will help facilitate research of best practices in corporate governance from around the world.”
